

I think that economic freedom in my country is hampered by a variety of factors, including corruption, a lack of transparency, and excessive bureaucracy. This can limit prosperity by making it difficult for businesses to operate efficiently and effectively.